

LANGUAGE LEARNING CENTER

EXPLORING BEST PRACTICES IN LANGUAGE TEACHING

New day & time!

Sarah Schulman, PhD Candidate in Educational Linguistics

September 26, 2018, 4:30pm, Lab 2

There is no better way to expand our teaching toolbox than to share best practices with other educators. To facilitate this collaborative exchange of ideas, participants attending this workshop are asked to come with a learning activity that they have found to be effective in their classrooms. Materials that are shared during this time, such as handouts, PowerPoints, Prezis, or other websites, will be made available digitally to all attendees.

In addition, Sarah Schulman will demo a few ESL teaching strategies from Project GLAD (Guided Language Acquisition Design) that are transferable to second and heritage language classrooms. Attendees will hopefully leave this professional development session with a number of fun, new strategies to try with their students.

Instructors who would be willing to provide a hands-on demo of their learning activity are asked to contact Sarah at sschulman3@unm.edu in advance of the workshop.

The Language Learning Center is located in Ortega Hall, Room 124.
